

Admission Information, Policies and Forms

The Wavus Camp for Girls limits its enrollment to approximately 150 campers, aged 8 to 16, each session. Experience has shown us that this is an ideal number to ensure that each camper receives individual attention while participating in groups large enough to learn the lessons of "give and take" with her peers. Because of our extensive wilderness tripping program, only about half this number of girls is at Wavus on any given day. Eight, nine, and ten-year-old girls, coming to Wavus for the first time, have the option of attending a 10-day Introductory Session (also called Junior Wavus). This shortened session exposes the gamut of Wavus activities to girls and their parents who do not yet feel ready to part with one another for a month.

Convinced that a girl's social maturity is enhanced by meeting and interacting with girls from different parts of the world, we enrich our enrollment by accepting campers from many different regions of the United States and several foreign countries as well. Kieve-Wavus admits campers of any race or religion to all of the rights, privileges, and activities generally accorded or made available, and does not discriminate on the basis of race or religion in administering its policies or scholarship programs. Kieve-Wavus is an equal opportunity employer as well.

The available openings in the Wavus Camp for Girls usually fill quite quickly; therefore we suggest that you submit your application as early as possible. We give priority to returning campers and their siblings; next we accept those who have been placed on the previous year's wait list. Any remaining places are filled on a first-come, first served basis.

Since wait-listed girls do receive priority acceptance the following year, we advise you to place your application on our wait list even if the chances for acceptance in the current session seem slim. No deposit is required for inclusion on the wait list.

Deposit Refund Policy

Once a girl is admitted into camp, the $750 deposit is non-refundable. Tuition payments are also non-refundable, but in special circumstances, please contact the director.
